Art Unit: 1743

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-8, 34-39, drawn to a method of characterizing biological specimens.

Group II, claim(s) 9-16, drawn to a microscope.

Group III, claim(s) 17-33, drawn to an apparatus.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I, II and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Group I has as its special technical feature grouping a large number of cells in to a plurality of groups of small numbers of cells, whereas Group II requires means for locating (not grouping) cells. Group II has as its special technical feature microscope optics for both IR and fluorescence, which is not required for either group I or III.

3. During a telephone conversation with Rodney Hodgson on June 25, 2003 a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of group I, claims 1-8, 34-39. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 9-33 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 1743

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

9. Claims 1-4, 34-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cohenford et al.

Cohen ford teaches separating cells in a sample into individual cells and measuring the IR spectra of each cell and analysis by e.g., multivariate analysis (col. 4, lines 11-28).

10. Claims 1-8, 34-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wang et al in view of Kosaka and/or Ito et al.

Wang teaches a flow cytometry method of analyzing cells. Cells in a large group are passed through the cytometer where each cell is individually measured by fluorescence and IR (col. 5, lines 36-55). DNA can be detected and a plurality of dyes, stains and/or labels applied (col. 5, lines 5-10). Histograms distinguishing G1, S and apoptosis phases are obtained (col. 7, lines 30-40).

Wang fails to teach statistical analysis.

Kosaka teaches using statistical analysis of flow cytometry signals to classify cells (col. 6, lines 50-55).

Ito et al teach that flow cytometer methods conventionally use statistical analysis (col. 1, lines 13-23).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to statistically analyze the data of Wang et al in order to classify the cells in the cytometer as taught by Kosaka and/or Ito. With respect to measuring IR spectra, it would have been obvious to measure at more than one IR wavelength in order to use an additional detection label, stain or dye detectable at IR wavelength as taught by Wang.
